Summary

Data came from the Academic Libraries section of the National Center for Education's Library Statistics Program's Web site: <http://nces.ed.gov/surveys/libraries/academic.asp>.

Data were available for the even years from 2000 to 2008.

Data were not available for some institutions for specific years:

2000 Empire State College

2004 Alfred Ceramics, Empire State College

2006 Alfred Ceramics

2008 Alfred Ceramics, Farmingdale, Morrisville, Stony Brook

Charts are presented on 13 topics, though data on all topics are not necessarily available for all years: Expenditures for Books - paper and microform; Expenditures for Books - electronic; Expenditure for Current serials - paper and microform; Expenditures for Current serials - electronic; Books added; E-books added; Serial subscriptions added; E-reference added; Books held; E-books held; Serial subscriptions held; E-reference held; Circulation transactions.

Scales vary widely within a college's tables and between colleges, and the reader is advised to exercise caution when making comparisons.

We note the following trends:

1. Expenditures for paper books generally decreased among the Health Science Centers and generally increased among the Colleges of Technology/Agriculture.
2. Expenditures for paper serials generally increased among the University Colleges and the University Centers.
3. Expenditures for electronic serials increased among all sectors.
4. Number of paper books added generally decreased among the Health Science Centers and the University Centers.
5. Number of paper books held generally decreased among the Colleges of Technology/Agriculture and generally increased among the University Centers.
6. Number of electronic books held generally increased among the Health Science Centers and the University Centers.
7. Number of serial subscriptions held generally increased among the Health Science Centers and the University Centers and generally decreased among the Colleges of Technology/Agriculture and the Specialized and Statutory Colleges.
8. Number of electronic reference sources and aggregation services generally increased among the Health Science Centers, the University Colleges and the University Centers.
9. Number of circulation transactions generally decreased among all sectors.

System-wide, we note:

Expenditures for paper books decreased, and expenditures for e-books increased.

Expenditures for paper and electronic serials increased.

The number of paper books added decreased, and the number of e-books added increased.

The number of serial subscriptions added increased.

The number of paper books held decreased, and the number of e-books held increased.

The number of serial subscriptions held increased.

The number of circulation transactions decreased.

Six institutions are not included in this report:

State University of New York at Buffalo Health Sciences Center

State University of New York at Stony Brook Health Sciences Center

New York State College of Agriculture and Life Sciences at Cornell University

New York State College of Human Ecology at Cornell University

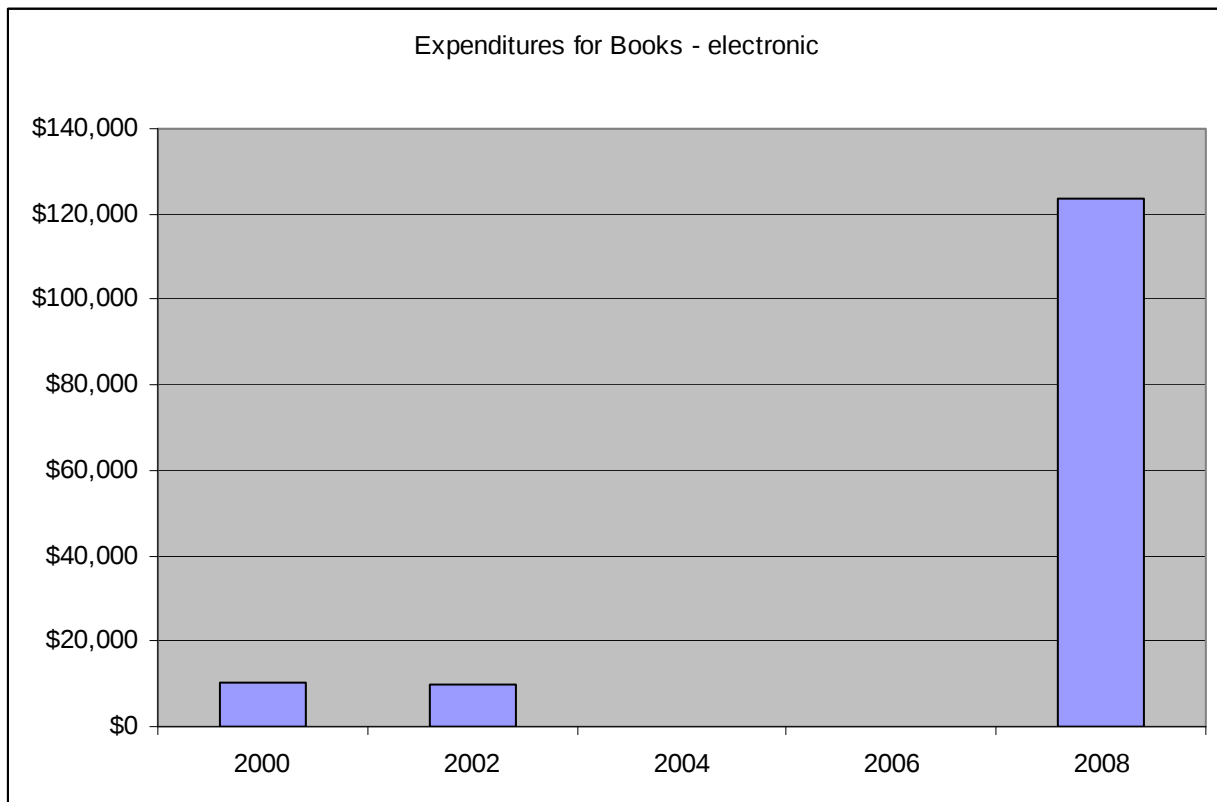

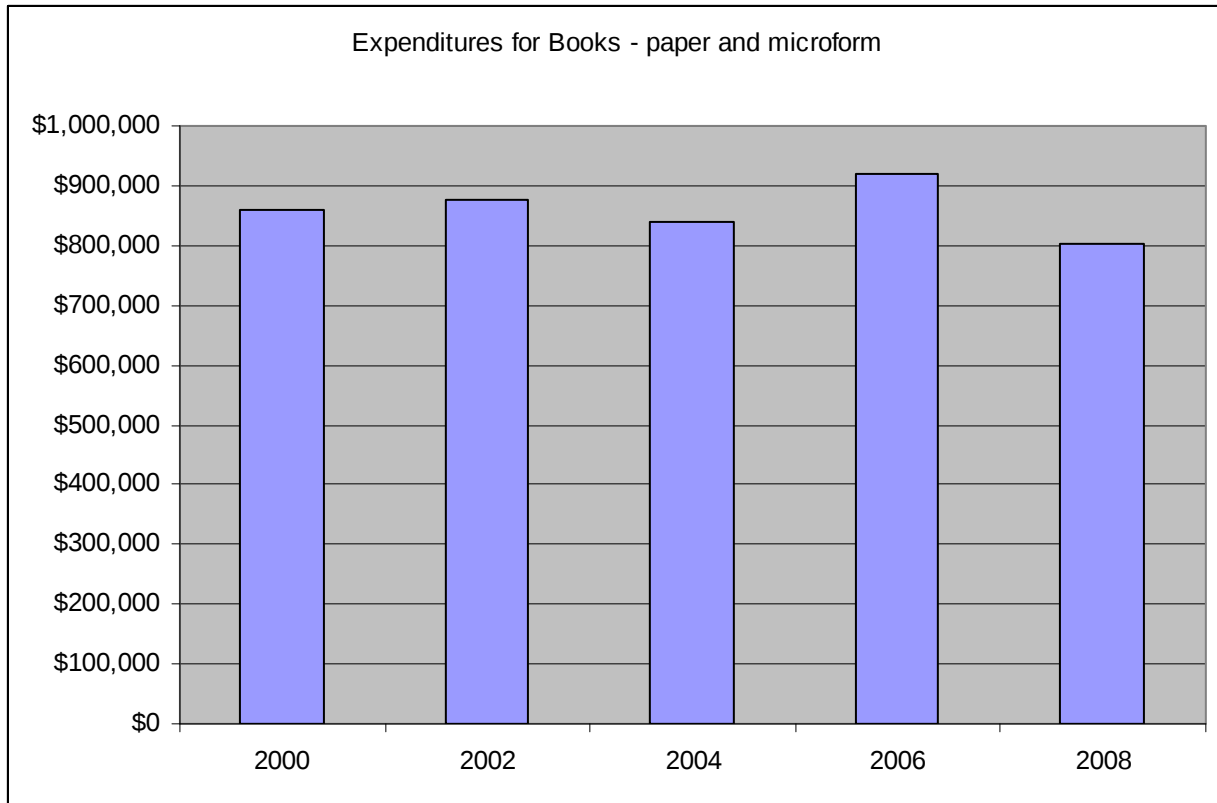

New York State School of Industrial and Labor Relations at Cornell University

New York State College of Veterinary Medicine at Cornell University

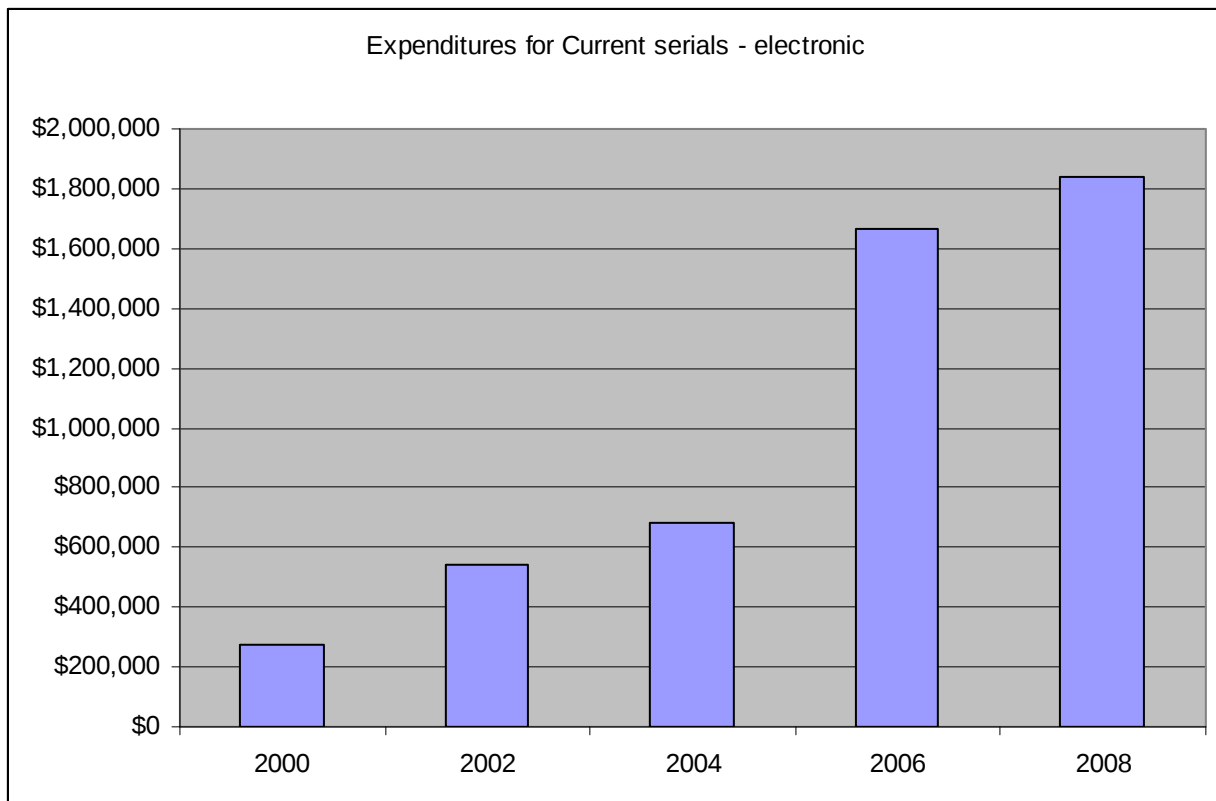

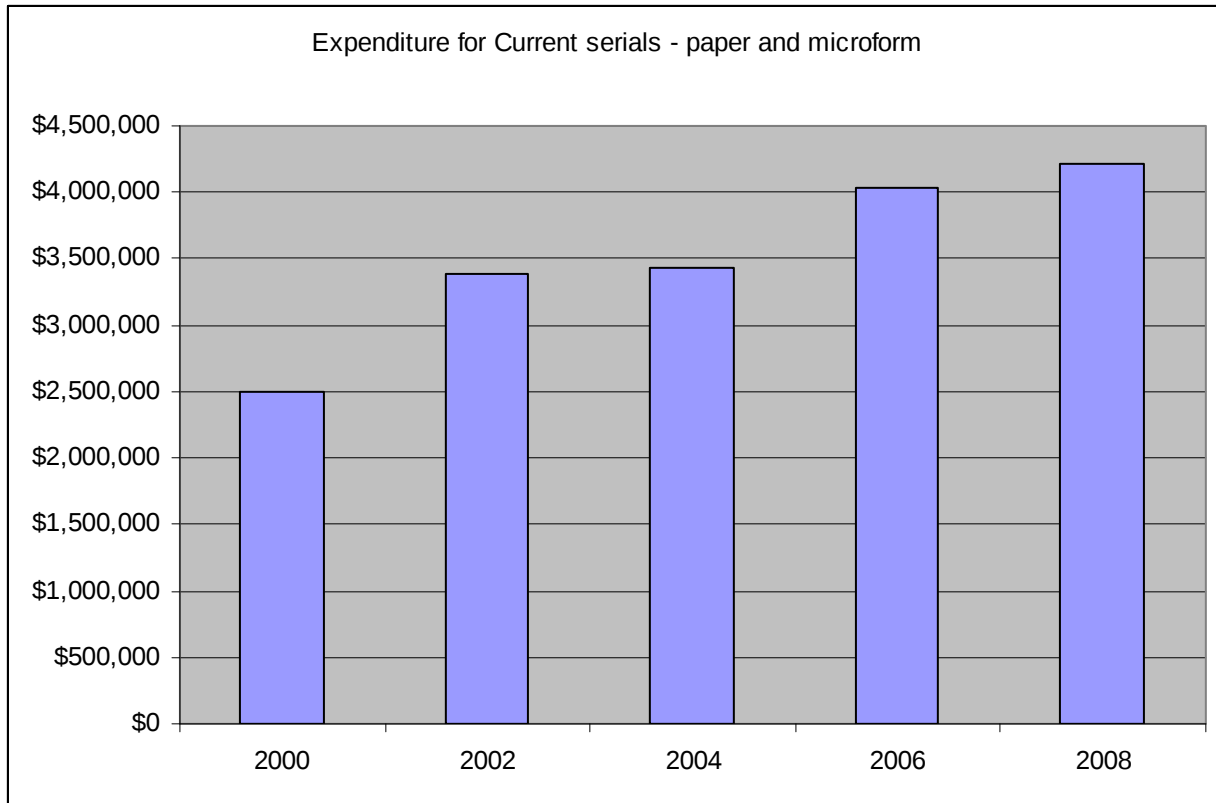

Where used, the word “paper” refers to print items in both hardcover and softcover.

Dollar amounts are not adjusted for inflation.
